You will be studying at Smolny Institute, which is located behind Smolny Cathedral, pictured below.

To get to Smolny Cathedral, you have several travel options:
 From metro station Chernyshevskaya, you can take marshrutkas K46, K76, K269, K167 (and many more besides – just look for the stop Tulskaya Ulitsa), or buses 22, 46, 136, 105 or, of course, you can walk (see map above). It takes about 20 minutes.
 From metro Ploshad' Vosstania, you could take bus number 74 and from metro Nevsky Prospekt, bus 22 or trolleybus 5, 7, 11.

UPON YOUR ARRIVAL

The RLUS group flight will be met by Benedict and RLUS representatives, who will welcome you to Russia and take you to your accommodation.

If you are arriving independently, you can, of course, take a taxi to your accommodation. You can get a taxi from the booths either inside the arrivals terminal beside the doors or the ones directly outside. On average, it costs about 700 rubles to get to the centre by taxi. Do make sure, however, that you stay by the window of the booth to avoid being poached by other taxi drivers who charge by a meter.

The cheapest option is to take a bus or "marshrutka" (see TRAVEL) to metro station Moskovskaya, where you can then go all over the city. You will then be met by the RLUS representatives on the first day of classes.

If you are staying with a homestay family, they will take care of you for the first two days, giving you guidance on the city, helping you to change money and buy a Russian simcard. Please do not hesitate to contact us using the numbers above if you need any help or if you get lost!

PUBLIC TRANSPORT FROM THE AIRPORT

Getting to the centre from the airport is cheap and relatively easy. There are regular buses (e.g. no. 13) and marshrutka buses (e.g. K3) that run from the airport to the nearest metro station, Moskovskaya. These can be found right outside the arrival terminal on your left as you exit. The bus is the slightly cheaper option at 25-27 rubles but the marshrutka is still only 30 rubles (prices for Nov/Dec 2011). For both of these you pay to the driver although there is sometimes a conductor on the bus.

When you reach the metro (it looks like a regular subway with a small blue M over it), just should go downstairs and turn left. Go through the swing doors into the main hall and there will be cash desks on your right where you can buy a token/zheton (25 rubles). To get to the centre, you need to take a train in the direction of Parnas.

Nevskiy Prospekt metro is roughly 20 minutes away.

YOUR COURSE

Classes will begin the Monday after you arrive, at 10am.

The head teacher of Russian is Elena Anatolievna. You will also meet the Head of Administration, Liuba Marchenko.

During your course, you will study a number of subjects, taking in various aspects of Russian language and culture. The timetable includes classes such as: Media, Grammar, Translation, Culture and Conversation. According to the Russian educational system, each lesson lasts not 60 minutes but 90.

On the first day you will sit a placement test to allocate you to a group, after which you will receive your timetable for the semester.

VISAS AND REGISTRATION

When you arrive in Russia, you will have to fill in a migration card. This small piece of paper is very important, so please keep it safe and make sure that you have it stamped with the correct date. Check this has been stamped and dated BEFORE YOU LEAVE THE AIRPORT! This is particularly important for people making their own way to Russia, as group flighters will have their migration cards checked by the RLUS reps.

You will not always be given one on the plane so please make sure you ask for it (better to do it on the plane so that you can ask any questions, if you need to).

On arriving at the school you will be registered. This is required by authorities to make your stay in the country legal and must be done within three working days after your arrival. You have to bring the following items:

- passport
- visa

- migration card
- Registration fee -

If you are on a 16, 18 or 36 week course, you will have to extend your visa. You will receive a Multi-Entry Visa. It takes one month to process it, and so you should sort this out as soon as you can after your arrival. You'll need to bring:

- 5 black and white photos on matte paper (+one for a student card)
- Multi-Entry fee of 1000 rubles

At the moment an HIV test is not required in order to receive your multi-entry visa, but the rules have a tendency to change quite often. If you do need to have a certificate, you can have it done quickly and inexpensively in the city, as the authorities usually do not accept UK certificates.

YOUR HOMESTAY FAMILY

You will be assigned a room with a family living in St Petersburg. They are always friendly and do what they can to help you. They usually do not speak English, so this will be a great opportunity for you to practise your Russian!

You will pay your rent (for prices, please see the separate document on the RLUS website entitled Accommodation Costs) directly to the administrator, Liuba Marchenko within the first three days of the month. The price you pay for homestay includes breakfast but not dinner. You can arrange to make extra payments for an evening meal or laundry. Please note that bedding will be supplied, and so you only need to bring a towel. (And clothes!)

Homestay is a great insight into life in Russia but please be aware that you are staying in someone else's home. There isn't a curfew as such, but it is a good idea to let your hosts know if you will be home later than 11pm. There are also a couple of cultural differences that might be helpful to know in advance: you should wear slippers indoors and the food might differ from what you are used to. If you talk to your host family about your preferences, they will try to accommodate you as far as possible.

You will, no doubt, wish to contact your family when you arrive, in which case we suggest using an international phone card if Skype is not available. Homestays more often than not have access to the Internet – but not always! In this case you can buy a dongle quite cheaply (see MOBILE PHONES AND INTERNET).

If you should want to leave homestay and find your own accommodation, you must give a month's notice or pay the rent for that month. You should also tell your university's liaison officer and your RLUS rep. Unfortunately, RLUS is bound by legal conditions not to get involved in your search for a new apartment.

SAFETY

St Petersburg is a big, bustling city and so you should take the same precautions as you would do in any other large town. Be particularly careful of pickpockets and make sure your valuables are not hanging out of your back pocket! Girls – don't bring low hanging bags, try to bring something that hangs under your arm or in front of you. This will reduce the risk of pick pocketing.

You do not need to carry your original passport but you should have a copy of your passport, visa, migration card and registration on you. These are all stamped with the Benedict School details.

registration

This is particularly important for gentlemen as you may be stopped by the police. In this case don't worry, just show them your documents and if there are any problems just get them to contact your Reps.

You shouldn't carry large amounts of money around with you. We also advise that you leave all unnecessary cards at home i.e. your driving license, your national insurance card, and student card (if it isn't an international student card). These cards are totally useless in Russia and better left at home!

If you are going to go out at night, try not to overdo it as you make yourself more vulnerable to dangers.

Do plan how you are going to get home and try to go together with someone else. We recommend that you use taxis at night – such as 6-000-000, 068 or 777-1-777, as they are reliable, safe, and not much more expensive than other forms of night transport. RLUS does not condone the use of "private cars" or "gypsy cabs". However, if you do take one, ensure that there is only one person in the car, agree the price before getting into the car, and show caution!

Lastly: Don't drink the tap water! The plumbing system is old and badly maintained, so you should either boil your water or use a Brita filter, or best of all, both! Bottled water is inexpensive and available everywhere.

MONEY

You can exchange money in numerous banks and bureaux de change around the city. (Your host family should show you these in the first couple of days if you need to change money) You can't use dollars, euros or pounds in St Petersburg but changing them will not be a problem.

You will be able to use your bank cards to withdraw money from cash machines in the city but please remember that most banks charge a fee for this and some have limited service. Also, many shops and restaurants do not take cards and you should be prepared for this, do carry some cash just in case. Many places ask for ID when using your card. A copy of your passport or your driving license will be fine.

There are credit cards available in the UK which are commission-free and great for travelling. However, beware that commission-free does not always mean that they have a great exchange rate. The Post Office offers a Classic card, which is recommended by moneysupermarket.com (not by RLUS), as it charges 14.9% APR at home and abroad and is commission-free. The advantage of this, and one to look out for in other cards, is that the Post Office has a 24hr service available in case of loss or theft. It is good to know that these things are available, but do shop around to find the best deal.

WHAT TO DO IF SOMETHING GOES WRONG

Emergency numbers:

State University: +7 (812) 274 1485

British Consulate: +7 (812) 320 3200

Euromed: +7(812) 327 0301

Fire Service: 01

Police: 02

Visa Section: +7 (812) 320 3239

American Clinic: +7 (812) 740 2090

Ambulance: 03

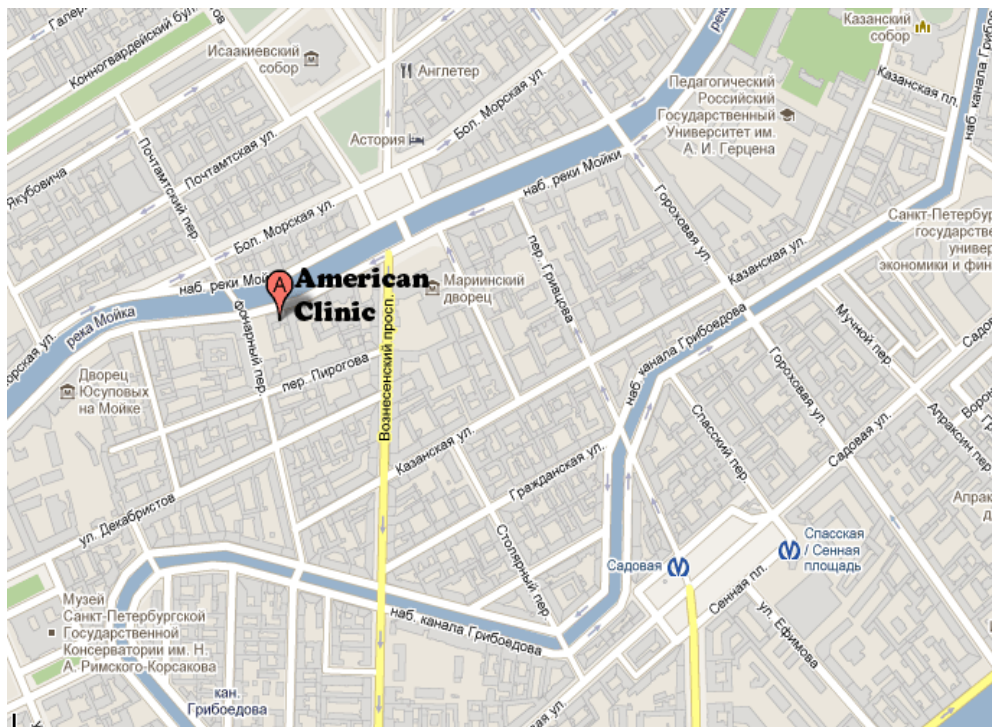

If calling from a mobile you must call the unified Emergency Number 112 and then specify which service you require.

If you have an emergency, you can reach the RLUS reps on our emergency phone numbers:

Ciara: +7 965 075 5314

Seb: +7 905 233 5378

If you lose any of your documents, contact your RLUS rep straight away and they will sort everything out.

If you need to see a doctor, you can go to Euromed on Suworovskiy Prospekt or the American Clinic on Moika Canal. Please ensure that you have your insurance policy with you, as well as the phone number of someone at the insurance company.

It is normal to have to pay up front for outpatient procedures, however it is possible to avoid this by getting the hospital administration to contact the insurance company themselves to arrange a guarantee of payment. Inpatient procedures won't have to be paid for up front. The best thing to do is to contact one of the RLUS reps if you need to go and see a doctor, as they are experienced in dealing with insurance issues.

In case of theft or other emergencies requiring a visit to the police, please get in touch with your RLUS rep straight away. They can help you in any situation. If you are unlucky enough to find yourself in a police station without your rep, sign nothing!! You will be given a phone call, and you should use it to contact your RLUS rep! Do not stop until you get in touch. They will contact the necessary people and save you! If you are forced to sign something, you must write that you do not understand what you are signing.

LIFE IN ST PETERSBURG

St Petersburg is an exciting and fascinating city, with lots to offer. Here are some things that you should know about:

MOBILE PHONES & INTERNET

No doubt one of the first things you'll want to do in the city is set yourself up with a simcard. The main providers in Petersburg are MTS, Beeline and Megafon. Megafon generally seems to be the most expensive of the three, and MTS and Beeline tend to be preferred by young people. There is also a provider called Tele2, which is cheap, but does not always work when corresponding with British providers such as Orange.

You can buy a sim from any mobile shop (such as Svyaznoi & Evroset) and then top up using the touchscreen (orange) machines on the streets, in shops, and in the metro.

If you want to buy a dongle, we recommend Yota or MTS. They are a little bit more expensive than buying Beeline or another service, but they are much better and ensure you get good signal wherever you are in the city.

If you are living privately, routers can be quite expensive but there is a good, cheap internet provider called Tvoi Internet: they give you a free router when you sign up and also install it free-of-charge. For more info, google them! Do check with your landlord though before drilling holes in the wall!

TRANSPORT

The city is quite large, but it is easy to get around. There is a metro system which is reliable and fairly comfortable, and although it can get quite squished at rush hour, it is still the fastest and most convenient way to get from A to B.

There is also a large network of buses, trams, trolleybuses which are all run by the state transport company. The metro and other state transport is reasonably priced and you can get a travel card for various periods (eg 20 journeys for 15 days, 40 journeys for a month). Non-Russians are not able to get discounted rates, even students, so getting a travel card is the best-value option.

Aside from these, there are also marshrutkas - private buses in the form of minivans, which are more expensive than state transport but run more often and much faster. They are like "taxis", which follow a set route. You can flag them down at any point, not only at stops. Similarly, you can ask them to stop anywhere (that is safe) by shouting out «остановите пожалуйста». They can take some getting used to, but in fact are very useful and quite fun.

Most forms of transport run from between about 6am until midnight. At night you should make sure to take a taxi, avoid walking around on the street alone.

There are also trains that are quite inexpensive, going out to the suburbs (beautiful places like Pushkin and Pavlovsk) and nearby cities like Helsinki, Moscow, Tallinn.

Vitebsky vokzal – trains to Baltic states and Eastern Europe

Finlyandsky vokzal – trains to Finland

Moskovsky vokzal – trains to Moscow

Ladozhsky vokzal – trains to the north of Russia

Baltiyskiy vokzal – local trains

ENTERTAINMENT

The State University can provide you with a student card that entitles you to a discount for students, and even better, to Russian student prices, which are considerably lower.

In order to receive it, you need to bring one passport size photo.

This card entitles you to free entry to the Hermitage and discounts in many other museums and galleries, and quite large reductions on tickets to the theatre and opera.

St Petersburg gives you the unique opportunity of seeing many world-class plays and musical performances for a very small price. There are loads of beautiful galleries and museums to visit, and the literary tradition of St Petersburg is maintained in museums and landmarks, as well as the general cultural atmosphere of the city.

Apart from this, there are also many cinemas including several IMAX screens, and art-house cinemas showing a range of world films. You can find listings online at <http://www.afisha.ru/spb/cinema/> and also in the free English-language newspaper The St Petersburg Times, which can be found in various expat-oriented places around the city, or online.

FOOD AND DRINK

There are lots and lots of places to eat and drink ranging from the deliciously inexpensive to the painfully luxurious. You can find restaurants offering just about any cuisine and you can find information about them in leaflets like St Petersburg in Your Pocket, in the St Petersburg Times, or, again, <http://www.afisha.ru/spb/restaurants/>

Be aware that credit cards are not accepted everywhere here, so if you're thinking of dining in a small, out-of-the-way cafe, best to carry some cash, just in case! They will, however, generally be accepted in chain restaurants and high street shops, but not always in your local produkty.

More recently two huge shopping centres have opened in the centre of the city. One is called Galeria <http://www.galeria-spb.ru/> and Nevskii Centre <http://www.nevskycentre.ru/>. These are practically identical to Western shopping malls with many shops you will be familiar with such as Next, River Island and even M&S!

The best way to get quality food is to buy it from a supermarket. In the centre due to space limitation large supermarkets are few a far between but there are a few including: Perekrestok on Sennaya Ploschad (inside PIK shopping centre), Stockmann food court (inside Nevskii centre shopping centre) and Lend (inside Vladmirskii Passage shopping centre <http://www.vpassage.ru/>). If you are looking for a true Russian food buying experience then head to Sennaya market where you can haggle for meat and veg with the market traders. A word of caution though it can be somewhat overwhelming!
